About

Our mission and vision

Our mission is to create spaces that inspire feelings of well-being through our high-end heirlooms infused with the spirit of the craft.

We believe that the raw materials we work with, just like ourselves, have the potential to be transformed into something truly special and beautiful. Our values are the guiding principles that inspire and shape everything we do. They help us to work together as a team, driving us towards excellence and success.

These values inform our decision- making and are at the core of our brand. They are what makes us who we are, and we make sure to surround ourselves with people who share these values and are committed to bringing them to life in everything they do.

Heritage

At the heart of Mobello beats a heritage nearly a century old. Every piece of our furniture is the voice of past generations, an echo of a rich and noble past. We represent the confluence of traditional craftsmanship and modern vision.

Our furniture is more than a mere item in your space, it is a witness to life's unfolding stories and a keeper of history. Each piece is a chapter of your story that we write together with love and commitment. So when you touch a piece of Mobello furniture, you are not simply feeling wood and fabric. You are connecting with a heritage that endures.

Craftsmanship

At the heart of our craftsmanship are our maestros, bearers of long-standing practices and skills they've adopted and perfected, preserving the knowledge of past generations. Their expert touch endows our products with a distinctive mark, particularly evident in the finishing touches, for which we've become a symbol of quality in the eyes of our clients.

Our manufacturing process is meticulous and attentive. From selecting the finest wood to applying modern finishing techniques, every step in our creation process is interwoven with their expertise, ensuring that each product is not just a piece of furniture but a work of art. It's a fusion of master craftsmanship and materials.

Sustainability

Our mission extends beyond creating functional and aesthetically appealing furniture, we aim to contribute to a healthier environment for future generations.

Planting Trees, 2022.

At Mobello, every piece of furniture tells a story of sustainability and responsibility towards our planet. Our production approach reflects a profound respect for nature, where each step we take emphasizes our commitment to environmental awareness. Through our creations, we not only give back to nature but also cultivate new forests, contributing to the health of our environment.

We can proudly say that we've planted over 350,000 trees and continue our efforts, contributing to forest restoration and reducing the carbon footprint in the atmosphere.

Besides planting new trees, we also pay attention to seed selection, choosing acorns and walnut fruits, which are fundamental to our production.

Considered Design

Mobello furniture is founded on the philosophy of considered design, a belief that emphasizes how design, regardless of the shape or size of the object, serves the purpose of enhancing people's daily lives. Our furniture is not merely created to occupy space, it is envisioned to breathe soul and character into your home, transforming every corner into an oasis of comfort and style.

Mobello creates more than just furniture. From the Scandinavian aesthetics of the Primera design, bringing light and airiness into the home, to the organic style of Uniqa design evoking natural forms, to the symbiosis of classic and modern evident in every detail of the Moku design. We create pieces where design serves people, not people serving design.

From line to texture, our designers not only envision but also craft functional items that withstand the test of time and become timeless. We believe that good design is not a matter of fleeting popularity but of enduring value reflected in every piece of our furniture. We strive for a design that is innovative, but at the same time simple, attractive but unobtrusive, honest, and above all, enduring.

Our dedication to the considered design philosophy is evident in every step of our process, from the inception of an idea to the moment our product reaches you.

*From Mobello
to our dear Customers*

We know that our customers value natural materials, longevity, timeless design, convenience, and ease of maintenance. Our furniture is built to last, and we only use materials of highest quality, including pure hand-crafted solid wood, to ensure the durability of our products.

Wood

European Walnut - Twilight Oil

The hardness of walnut wood is moderate, the fibers are fine and uniform and it has excellent durability. The surface of walnut furniture requires only simple processing, and the wood grains leave rustic impression.

European Oak - Malibu Oil

The hardness of walnut wood is moderate, the fibers are fine and uniform and it has excellent durability. The surface of walnut furniture requires only simple processing, and the wood grains leave rustic impression.

Leather

Cow Hide Leather is timeless and sturdy. It is a semi-aniline, pigmented leather and it is one of the kinds, especially considering that it is produced out of animal hides that are byproducts (coming from animals that were slaughtered only for the meat production), and not originally for leather production.

Recycled Fabrics- Soft Lux, Cloud Weave

There are things important and more important. For us it is our environment. The fabric we use is made by technology that uses yarn from recycled material. Thirty seven (37) recycled PET bottles turn into one metre of the fabric and the whole manufacturing process is less harmful to the environment. the meat production), and not originally for leather production.
